Do not miss call for papers!

We have a dedicated section in our website to announce the call for papers. Check it out and do not miss the deadlines!

This month, INTRA delves into the intersection of gender equality and international taxation.

- The new course on “Gender Equality and International Taxation” is now open for registration. The course will explore key concepts of gender equality, the impact of international tax practices on gender disparities, and the relevant international frameworks and principles, including the work of the UN and OECD.
- The new blog post on “Feminist Foreign Tax Policy: A Path to Gender Equality in International Taxation?” addresses the importance of gender-sensitive foreign tax policies in tackling structural inequalities in the international tax system.

13th
February
2025

We are thrilled to share that the first session of the Tax Reading Group was a success! During the meeting, we delved into the article Ectopia, Tax Law, and International Taxation and engaged in a fruitful discussion. Now, we're eagerly looking forward to the second meeting, scheduled for February 13. Mark your calendars and stay tuned for more details about the next reading!
